

Craig Krumwiede

President

Harvard Investments

Craig Krumwiede is the president of Harvard Investments, a Scottsdale based real estate development firm which specializes in diverse master planned residential communities. President since 1994, Krumwiede leads the company's development and investment activities and is responsible for the implementation of the general investment strategy for the company. Harvard is the U.S. development and investment arm of The Hill Companies, a privately held company founded in 1903.

Krumwiede actively oversees the acquisition, development and sale of the company's real estate holdings in Arizona and Texas. Harvard's product ranges from exclusive golf course communities to projects centered around single family production housing. Harvard's expertise includes a thorough approach to conceptualizing, designing, creating and developing each individual community with specific attention to the surrounding area needs and with respect for the environment. Over the years Mr. Krumwiede has developed solid working relationships with other developers, landowners, partners, home builder, engineers, brokers, national banks and lending institutions, politicians and lawyers.

Talking Rock Ranch, a 3,600 acre private, master-planned golf course community located in Prescott, Arizona, and a Harvard signature development, has received numerous accolades, including being recognized as the Detached Residential Project of the Year in 2008. It is consistently ranked among the top 25 courses in Arizona by Gold Digest and Golf Week.

Krumwiede holds a B.S. degree in accounting and a Juris Doctor degree from Arizona State University. After graduation he joined Deloitte & Touche as a tax specialist. He is a board member and Past President of the ASU Council for Design Excellence and a member of the Dean's Council of 100 for the W.P. Carey School of Business at ASU. He is involved in the inception of the Master in Real Estate Development program at ASU and acts as a mentor to many of those students.

Krumwiede is a Respondent to the Federal Reserve Beige Book. He is also a founding member of Social Venture Partners Arizona, which funds and provides expertise to innovative non-profit organizations and creates educated philanthropists.
